ROBERTS IN CHICAGO.

He Tells of Moving Sights in Chicago.

The editor of the APPEAL met Oliver Roberts in San Francisco on Monday, on his way home and fresh from Chicago. He was deservable blocks away with clothes of the latest New York cut and a resplendent tile hat that loomed up through the Market street fog.

He is the same old "Gil" of yore. "Been to Chicago, well I wonder. When I strike this little village I feel that I'm somewhere on a ranch in the backwoods of Missouri. Talk about people and streets and crowds.

"If this town was dropped down into one of those wards of Chicago, it wouldn't change the vote so but what two good ballot stuffers could upset it.

"Are the strangers robbed as much as the papers say?"

"Well" answered Oliver "the workers are pretty thick. I had to buy a lot of Waterbury watch cases, got 'em cheap without the works and I let the pickpockets play with me awhile.

"The nickle cases came at $6 a dozen and last you a week. I was in the place they have fixed up to represent Palestine and the places Christ walked when he was a boy with the Cedars of Lebanon and all that, and the road from Jafa to Jerusalem.

"When the pickpockets get the boys under those Lebanon Cedar trees they lift a dozen watches an hour and no man gets along the road from Jafa to Jerusalem with his pocketbook. After awhile the pickpockets got me spotted and got so familiar they would say, 'We are on old boy, move on and give us a chance to earn a living.' After that I carried a gold repeater and they never touched it. They seem to be a pretty good class of people after you get acquainted with them."

"How are the hotels?"

"Well don't mention it. One night I was running to catch a car in a rain storm and my head down. I ran through the side of a hotel into a woman's bed room and her husband came in and covered me with a gun, I had banged right through the wall of the building and you bet I was in a tight fix. Well an idea struck me and I dived right square at the other wall, went through and get away in time to catch the car. Why in the night they wake up the boarders and ask them to get out and hold on to the guy ropes to keep the hotel from blowing away. They charge the country people $4 a day for rooms and the Nubians, Icelanders, Japs and Patagonians that are there they charge more. The town is full of these foreigners and in about a month it will be the d—st carnival you ever saw. She'll be a hummin' then and you'll see a lot of those California millionaires that have gone to see the fair walking home with their blankets on their shoulders strapped."

Roberts is expected home to-day.

COAST NEWS.

Henry Lewis, a colored man from Placer county, was killed by the cars on the Union Pacific near the Hot Springs Utah, Saturday.

Mrs. G. S. Redfield, who was injured in the railroad accident at San Jose last Monday, in which her sister, Mrs. O. L. Wheelock, was instantly killed, died at the Hotel Vendome Sunday.

For irrigating lands in Eastern Washington eight large companies have been organized with a combined capital of $3,170,000. The amount already expended in construction work is $1,245,000.

While working in a tunnel into Indian Hill, six miles North of Pomona, Saturday, the remains of a mastodon were uncovered. Teeth in good preservation and pieces of jaw-bone weighing fifty pounds were taken out.

Doc. Goodwin, a cowboy at Phoenix, A. T., lassoed a cougar and managed to run his horse on one side of a mesquite tree and the animal on the other, breaking its neck, and by a skillful movement hanging him in the tree.

No fewer than thirty-two daggers, saws, files and slung-shots have been found, besides morphine and other drugs, in the Arizona prison Yuma. The former Superintendent, M. McInernany, is in arrest for appropriating Territorial property.

D. W. Hoskins, who murdered Ida Bennett and killed himself at Spokane, Wash., on Friday evening last, is well-known by parties living at San Louis Obispo. Hoskins was Sheriff of Logan county, Ark. He was afterwards a Deputy United States Marshal, and was implicated in the Logan County Bank robbery.

A sensation has just come to light at Pacific Grove by the absconding of E. M. Carver, the cashier of the Bank of Pacific Grove, with $10,000 of the depositors' money. The creditors who were duped by the wily cashier, were Mrs. Goodrich of San Jose, for $5,000; William Hannon, a real estate dealer of Monterey; Rev. Dr. Clark, a Presbyterian minister of Monterey, of whose church the missing cashier was a devout member, and a number of other well-known persons of Pacific Grove. Beside these victims there is a further list of persons who were inveighed for less amounts.

A Foolhardy Man.

Norwich, Conn., May 9.—The Shetucket river, swollen by floods, rushes like a millrace by this town. Impelled by a daredevil spirit, a young and wiry switchman of the Norwich and Worcester railway, F. C. Engel, leaped into a frail rowboat at the railroad depot yesterday and undertook to shoot the rapids under the Laurel Hill Bridge.

The river there is crowded into a narrow channel. It runs in a dark gorge between towering banks. Engel's craft shot down the incline of water for ten rods very rapidly, then it was caught in a maelstrom just above the bridge and whirled around like a top.

A crowd of people lined the river bank, fascinated by the probability of inevitable death. Engle and his boat were not two rods from either shore, but he evidently foresaw that he was doomed. He rose in his spinning shallop, waved his arms wildly and cried out. Just then a great billow broke under him and he was hurled headlong into the water.

For a moment or two he struck out vigorously toward the rocky bank barely twelve feet distant, but a whirlpool caught him and he was sucked down in the spinning funnel. He went down head first and did not reappear. A line of awestruck people on the bank might have touched him with an angling rod, but were helpless to aid him. Engel's body was swept down the bed of the stream into the Thames river and thence, no doubt, out into the ocean.

He lived in Williamantic and was 25 years old. He was an excellent workman. His mother lived in this town.

The Press Excursion.

Yesterday one hundred members of the California Press Association passed through Reno on a special Pullman train for Chicago. It was a gay crowd. It took one car to carry the wine and another for Miss Blanche the little soubrette of the Neil Burgess County Fair company, who was making things very lively in the Pullman as they passed Reno.
